The College of Education Blog Is Back!

The College of Education has a communication service for all its students and faculty. Timely information, workshops, and important communications are shared through an email system that allows the College of Education to post entries. It does not accept replies.

Each entry will include contact information for any questions.

All students enrolled in the College of Education are required to subscribe to the COE Blog. Many of you have already subscribed. If you have not, please subscribe at www.coeblog.com.

We will be sending our first post Thursday, September 3, 2009.

If you do not receive an email from the COE Blog, please register again.

All requested posts will be sent to the Office of Field Experiences, Clinical Practice and Partnerships.

This week, we will post information on upcoming GACE workshops and Portfolio workshops and information from the Early Childhood Department.
